DECISION OF RAIL MEN
AWAITED WITH ANXIETY

Unions Meeting to Decide Whether to Back Strike of the Coal Men

LONDON.—Preparations for the great industrial struggle precipitated by the decision of the one million British coal miners to cease work went grimly forward on Saturday.

The machinery established by the government to cope with the crisis was working at full speed. The miners were equally active. Some, notably in Derbyshire and Nottinghamshire, already had ceased work at the end of their shifts.

Meanwhile the public was waiting anxiously for the real beginning of the battle whose outcome none could foresee, since the action of the miners hits at the vitals of the country.

Await Rail Men's Action

The issue of gravest importance was whether the railroad men and transport workers would give their active support to the miners. The executive committee of the railway men today decided to call a conference of delegates Wednesday when decision will be taken as to whether the railway men shall support the miners through a sympathetic strike. Meanwhile the railroad employees will remain at work.

The national federation of transport workers declined to indicate its position. The executive committee of the federation will meet Monday.

The executive committee of the Associated Society of Locomotive Engineers and Firemen is meeting to decide the attitude of that union.

Military leave has been stopped in the Portsmouth district and officers and men on leave have been recalled.

Steel Works Closed

Some iron and steel works in North Yorkshire have succumbed to the coal strike threat. With few exceptions all works on the Teesside were closed today, and about 20,000 men have been thrown out of employment. It is stated all works in this district will be idle after Saturday.

From Sheffield comes the report that while some of the big factories have supplies of coal for three weeks, the smaller trades will be immediately affected.

Ocean liners have been instructed to obtain bunker coal abroad as much as possible.

Won't Tie Up U. S. Ships

Representatives of the United States shipping board stated they had received assurances from the British ministry of shipping which gave the board reason for confidence that none of the American steamers would be tied up.

Inquiries at the offices of the main trans-Atlantic passenger lines elicited the statement that there was no indication of restriction or alteration of the advertised sailings.

It is declared possible trans-Atlantic passengers may be excluded from the steamers in return trips to the United Kingdom to conserve space for carrying foodstuffs.

Nation to Resist

Premier Lloyd George Saturday addressed a message to the nation with regard to the strike. He said the government had done everything possible to avert the calamity, but that the miners, rejecting all offers, now were trying to win their ends by force. The nation, he declared, would resist such an attack with all its strength, and there can be no doubt as to the issue.

The Welsh coal miners quit work Saturday without engaging in any demonstration.

The miners' federation issued a statement saying the miners had been forced into the strike because of the unyielding attitude of the government, which left them without an alternative. The miners declare they allow ample time for negotiations, and point out that they modified their claims in the interest of peace and twice suspended their strike notices.

As the day progressed reports piled up from coal districts that the miners were walking out at the end of their shifts, and that all the men had quit work in Southwest Wales and in the Midlands. Thereafter in the Barnsley district in South Yorkshire had quit, but were showing little enthusiasm for the strike, according to reports from the region.

The miners' federation announced that the strike instructions were being generally carried out. Reports continued to come in that various iron and steel works either had closed or were preparing to close.

SAILSTAD REPORTED
LOCATED IN DULUTH
EXPECT ARREST SOON

Warrant Out Charging Missing
Eau Claire Man With Arson

MOTHER FIRM IN BELIEF THAT SAILSTAD IS DEAD

Declares Son Was Not Capable of Acts Accused of SUPERIOR.—Edward J. Sailstad has been located in Duluth, according to information given out late Friday afternoon by local authorities.

Acting Chief of Police A. G. Fiskett at Duluth telephoned to Assistant District Attorney Kennedy late Friday afternoon to inquire as to whether Sailstad has been located and will be apprehended before morning.

Orders were given to bring Sailstad to Superior at once to be questioned by Deputy State Fire Marshal Charles Good.

Arson Charges Wait

Mr. Good stated that Sailstad would be charged with four counts of arson as soon as apprehended.

"Only the sight of my boy will ever convince me that he is not dead," said Mrs. Augustine Sailstad, mother of the missing man on Friday.

"I do not believe that Edward is or ever was capable of premeditated acts."

Mrs. Sailstad stated that her son had visited her home on the evening of the day preceding the fire.

"At that time he told me that he would like to fish for a couple of more days at the lake before he returned to Eau Claire."

"That is the last I ever saw of him."

The interview with Mrs. Sailstad revealed that Sailstad was not the first of his family mysteriously to disappear.

Father Also Vanished

Four years ago, following an attack of the "flu," his father, Edmond A. Sailstad, left home early one evening and has never been heard of since.

Deputy State Fire Marshal Charles Good of Ashland arrived in this city on Thursday night and immediately set to work investigating the scene of the fire at Lake Nebagamon.

Only Part of Body

Although he would not give a detailed report of the result of his investigation, Mr. Good stated on Friday that not only was he satisfied that the fire was of incendiary origin but that it had been established that the bones found in the ruins of the cottage, which were at first taken for the remains of Sailstad, were only a part of a corpse.

Following this discovery and the presentation of further evidence which showed that Sailstad was seen after the night of the fire, local and state authorities have redoubled their efforts to solve the mystery of the identification of the mutilated and burned body that was found in the ruins of the cottage.

District Attorney Archibald McKay states that as the result of an investigation in Eau Claire and Chippewa Falls it has been established that Sailstad made financial preparations to disappear.

It is alleged that several of his friends and brothers in various fraternal organizations have reported that just prior to his disappearance he approached them with a request to loan sums of money.

Coroner Z. A. Downs on Friday issued orders to every section in Douglas county to examine minutely every grave in the respective cemeteries under their care, and have asked the coroners in several surrounding counties to do likewise. Under the direction of District Attorney Archibald McKay, an investigation has been conducted in Eau Claire and Chippewa Falls to ascertain whether Sailstad made any financial preparations before his alleged disappearance.

COTTON GOODS SELL FOR AS LOW AS TEN CENTS A YARD

New Prices Announced on Bleached Muslins

NEW YORK.—Following the trend of lower prices in other commodities, the cotton goods market for the last week has registered declines far beyond anything ever known in the history of the trade. As low as ten cents was accepted for 38 1-2 inch 64x60s that sold as high as 25 cents in April.

Today a new price of twenty cents is announced on Fruit of the Loom bleached muslins, which is 20 cents a yard down. Hope 3-3 muslins were cut to 17 1-2 cents a yard, the top price having been 34 cents early in the year.

It is expected large printers of percales and prints will abandon the policy of protection on their goods, and a wide open market is predicted when new prices are decided on, which may not be until later this month. One line of denims at 32 1-2 cents, down from 47 1-2 cents, is not expected to mark the low points as other manufacturers are to be heard from.

Trading has been light in finished and unfinished cloths and much curtailment of production has occurred in cloth and yarn mills, as well as in knit underwear mills.

Cotton yarn markets have continued dull with prices the lowest this year.

NEW YORK.—There was another severe break in the price of cotton on the exchange Saturday with all active deliveries making new low records for the season.

Contracts for December delivery sold off to 19 cents a pound or a full cent below the closing quotation of yesterday.

The unsettled British labor situation and unfavorable reversion from the goods trade were among influences responsible for the decline but persistent southern selling was considered the chief cause of weakness.

DUBLIN.—A number of armed men knuckled at the home of Peter Carroll in Manor street early Saturday and when he opened the door shot him dead. His wife found his body and a paper which said:

The Carroll home had previously been raided frequently by the military, searching for two sons of the family.

Another shooting in which several persons were wounded occurred in Parnell square. A number of persons were taken to hospitals as the result of clashes incident to military activity during the night.

Riots continue in Dublin.

LONDONDERRY, Ireland.—Wild disorder recommenced here Friday night. Carlisle road was the theater of fighting, the trouble beginning when a band of youths began firing pistols. They maintained a running fire and riotous groups returned the shots.

LENROOT ALLEGES
DELIBERATE TWIST
OF SPEECH BY BOB

Declares Senator Took Sentence
Out of Lenroot Speech and Gave it Wrong Meaning

DEMANDS RETRACTION
FROM HIS COLLEAGUE

Esch Bill Deliberately Misrepresented
Says Senator

WAUPUN, Wis.—Senator Irvine L. Lenroot, firing the second gun of his campaign here Friday night, charged gross misrepresentation by Senator La Follette of the Esch-Cummings law, and debate relating thereto.

Senator Lenroot asserted that in editorializing on one of his speeches with reference to the original Cummings law, Mr. La Follette selected a few sentences from the middle of a paragraph which, standing alone, gave directly opposite the meaning from that when read in connection with the whole paragraph.

He read from Mr. La Follette's editorial, then from the Congressional Record to substantiate his charge of duplicity and trickery.

"In fairness as between man and man, I am entitled to a public retraction from Senator La Follette," he said.

Law Misrepresented

"The Esch-Cummings law has been deliberately misrepresented," he charged. "The people of Wisconsin, and I regret that my colleague, Senator La Follette, is engaged in misrepresenting this provision, and my position with respect to this question," said Senator Lenroot.

"In the September issue of La Follette's magazine, a most glaring misrepresentation of my position is found in the editorial of Senator La Follette, and the proof against him is so clear that his closest friends must admit that he is guilty of committing an act of great injustice."

"I quote from the editorial 'When the Cummings bill was under debate in the senate, Mr. Lenroot declared, on December 10, 1919, 'I do not believe that it is possible to operate the railroads in the future and secure the capital that is necessary for successful operation without a guarantee from the government,' and then he repeats the falsehood, that I have so often exposed, that the Esch-Cummings law guarantees a return of 5% or 6 per cent on seven or eight billion dollars of watered stock."

Part of Sentence

"It is the quotation from my speech that I wish to call attention to. He has selected a few sentences from the middle of a paragraph, which, standing alone, gives a directly opposite meaning from that when read in connection with the whole paragraph. I was discussing the original Cummings bill which I opposed in connection with the bill I had introduced."

"Now let me quote the entire paragraph. I said: 'In conclusion, Mr. President, I have only this to say: As I said in the beginning, I do not believe that the pending bill offers a solution of the railway problem. For that reason I cannot support it. I believe that it will only further complicate a very badly complicated problem. I do not believe that it is possible to operate the railroads in the future and secure the capital that is necessary for successful operation without a guarantee from the government. I do not believe that congress will and I feel very certain that congress should not give such a guarantee while the railroads are managed under the old system. I do not believe that congress will ever be warranted in affording a guaranty unless the majority control is not in the hands of a body that will have as its first consideration, not the interests of the stockholder, but the interests of the public.'"

"Entitled to Retraction"

"Is there any man or woman in the state of Wisconsin who does not see the gross misrepresentation by Senator La Follette, and in fairness as between man and man, I am entitled to a public retraction from him."

FORCED TO LIVE
LUMBER CAMP, WIFE
ASKS FOR DIVORCE

To be the only woman in a Minnesota lumber camp and have to eat in a mess hall with a lot of rough lumber jacks, proved too much for Mrs. Luella Margaret Webster, who has filed suit for divorce in circuit court against her husband William DeWitt Webster.

They were married in Cresco, Iowa, June 26, 1920. Before her marriage Mrs. Webster was a teacher in the Cresco high school. For a short time after their marriage the couple lived on a farm, near Cresco, which was a wedding present from the bride's parents.

Last September Webster moved to Cresco, Minnesota. Mrs. Webster went to join her husband early in October. But after living in a lumber camp, which practically constituted the town for several weeks, Mrs. Webster returned to La Crosse. She charges her husband with cruel and inhuman treatment and failure to support, having to support herself on the slender savings she acquired while a school teacher. Her attorneys are Cowie and Hale.

RIGA.—(By the Associated Press.)—The eighth all-Russian soviet congress was to open in Moscow today with a report from Adolph Joffe, head of the Russian soviet delegation which negotiated peace with the Poles in Riga, of the peace negotiations. Predictions have been made that George Tchitcherin, soviet foreign minister, would outline a new foreign policy less objectionable to western Europe than the present soviet policy.

There are rumors of a possible change in the soviet government through the administration of non-bolsheviks to high positions in order to give the government a coalition-form and facilitate the efforts to gain recognition by the foreign powers, and speed up the movement for a resumption of trade relations.

Fighting Resumed
WARSAW, Oct. 15.—(By the Associated Press.)—The smashing of the sixth bolshevik division by the Poles in a resumption of fighting on the Russo-Polish line is reported in tonight's official war office statement.

Bolshevik attacks on the Turbico front in the neighborhood of Kherson, have been repulsed, and General Wrangel's troops have captured 5,000 of the enemy and have taken many field guns and machine guns. The Ninth and Forty-second soviet divisions have been routed in recent engagements on this front. On the Dnieper front near Nikolai 4,000 prisoners, many cannon, armored cars and trains have been captured by the anti-bolshevik army, while on the Kharkov front bolshevik attacks, have been repulsed.

A general strike was authorized by the joint council of the United Shoe Workers of America in the plant of L. W. Kenny & Company, which had announced it would discontinue the payment of bonuses. The strike order is effective next Tuesday. About 300 operatives are employed at the plant. The company explained discontinuance of bonus payments as due to poor market conditions.

COTTON INDUSTRY IN RUSSIA DECLARED A THING OF THE PAST

Doubtful Whether Mills Can Ever Operate Again Says British Expert

LONDON.—Russia's great pre-war cotton industry has suffered to such an extent during the revolution that it is doubtful whether any of the mills will be able to operate again, says Sir Charles Macgill, an English authority in the world's cotton trade, in an interview in the Yorkshire Post.
Based upon information obtained from an Englishman who recently returned from Russia, where for 14 years he was the manager of a large cotton factory near Moscow, Sir Charles estimates that of the 9,000,000 spindles running in Russia before the revolution not more than 200,000 or 300,000 are now operating.
The experiences of the English manager of the Moscow factory were told as an example of the methods employed by revolutionists in dealing with one of Russia's great industrial assets, the textile factories in the Moscow district. This particular mill carried on all the processes from cotton spinning to the finished product, 17,000 workers having been employed under normal operating conditions.
When the bolsheviks assumed power the whole cotton industry was nationalized. At every mill committees were formed and finally, in October, 1919, a decree was issued that all who had been connected with the former owners would have to leave. With the experts gone, the mill stopped. After a time attempts were made to re-start it, but it was almost impossible to obtain raw cotton. Small quantities were obtained, which after being diluted with 75 per cent waste, were put through the processes.

The machinery now is in a very bad state, in such a state, in fact, that it would be almost impossible to operate the factory properly, according to the information given Sir Charles. Whenever machines are damaged, other machines are denuded of parts to repair them.
Sir Charles stated that there was little possibility of English workmen going to Russia for employment in textile factories. Mills in Germany and Austria were turning out only from 25 to 30 per cent of the normal production, he said, and English workers faced the almost impossible task of making up for the four and a half years' stoppage of textile manufacture owing to the war.

The Kobi desert is reckoned to be the most elevated region on the globe and it is reasoned that the race of mankind must have started here for this would naturally be the point

WHO DISCOVERED AMERICA?

COX URGES WOMEN'S CONGRESS TO FRAME SOCIAL LEGISLATION

Democratic Candidate in Talk to Women at Cleveland Asks Support for League

GOVERNOR ADVOCATES FEDERAL AMERICANIZATION BUREAU

Also Favors Separate Bureau of Education

CLEVELAND, O. — A national women's congress to frame a program of social legislation and administration for presentation to the president and congress was advocated here Saturday by Governor Cox, democratic presidential candidate, in addressing an audience of women.

The candidate's address preceded his political speech here and followed a morning of campaigning in which he spoke at Staudusky and Ellyria enroute here from Detroit. Governor Cox will remain here over Sunday and tour northern New York on Monday.

Urging larger participation of women in national affairs the governor declared, there was "much to be done for human welfare and social progress." He championed the league of nations as a measure to protect women and children from the horrors of war. "From my experience" in Ohio, he said the governor, "you may know what to expect when I am elected president. There is much to be done for human welfare and social progress. We must stamp out disease, oppression and ignorance and eliminate neglect. With women only at the threshold of political work I cannot call upon you for congressional action, but we can work in common purpose with common cause, and it would seem to me perfectly proper and fitting that a national meeting be called of representatives of every woman's organization in America to formulate a program for congress and the executive for social legislation and administration."

Governor Cox pledged his support to reforms contained in the San Francisco platform, including federal cooperation with the states for protecting infants and removing illiteracy. In this connection he urged establishment of a federal bureau of Americanization to educate aliens. Regarding the bureau of education, Governor Cox said, "At present the federal bureau of education is buried with a varied assortment of national business in the department of the interior. My opponent has spoken recently for a new department of public welfare under which to group certain social welfare activities. While I am in hearty accord with the idea of housecleaning our government departments, and sorting out the human from the technical portions, I feel that we should look forward to giving education and health equal consideration with labor. Instead of lumping all social questions again in another grab-bag, the defined department."

NAVY SECRETARY ASKS PROBE OF HAITIAN AFFAIRS

WASHINGTON. — A congressional investigation of conditions in Haiti will be welcomed by the navy department, Secretary Daniels declared Friday. He said the congressional committee which visited the Virgin Islands last year did not act on the department's suggestion to include Haiti in its itinerary.

Defending the record of the marines in Haiti, Mr. Daniels declared all records bearing on the investigation ordered last year by Brigadier General Garnett, then commandant of the marine corps, would be made public. The secretary said General Barnett could not have intended to convey the impression in his letter ordering the inquiry that he had found evidence of "general indiscriminate killing" of natives by the marines and that he must have referred only to the parties involved in the two court martial cases then before him.

With one or two exceptions, said the secretary the record of the marines in Haiti shows "great forbearance towards the natives." He added that a "wanton attack upon their record is a wanton attack upon American civilization."

CREEL ADVOCATES RECOGNITION OF MEXICAN REGIME

WASHINGTON. — George Creel, former chairman of the committee on public information, is returning to Washington from Mexico City to work for the immediate recognition of the present government of Mexico, according to advices from the Mexican capital quoted in an interview with Creel published in El Herald, the official government organ.

Creel had a conference with Provisional President De La Huerta in Mexico City, in company with Roberto V. Pesqueira, financial agent of the Mexican government in New York. Creel and Pesqueira left today for the United States and Creel was quoted as saying that on his arrival in Washington he would see President Wilson.

Creel obtained a passport from the state department, the first of the month and at the department it was stated that in making application for the passport he had given as the reasons for his trip to Mexico "business and pleasure."

Just before his departure he saw President Wilson, but it was denied he was going on an official mission.

RIVOLI
Cecil B. DeMille's latest production "Something to Think About," will be seen for the last time on the Rivoli screen tonight. Thus ends the engagement of a picture that has set all La Crosse talking. The reason for this popularity was the unusualness of its plot and theme. The picture unfolds a vile story of plain folks of the country, who are real and intensely human.

The story is well known to most of us by now. The cast is one that can be considered all star, includes Elliott Dexter, Gloria Swanson, Theodore Roberts and Monte Blue. The Rivoli Four will also make their last appearance this evening. All those who have not heard this mixed quartet should avail themselves of this opportunity now.

CAMP DEVENS, AYER, Mass.—The Arab horses, Crabbet and Rustem Bey, Friday led the field to the finish here of the 300-mile endurance test for cavalry mounts which began at Fort Ethan Allen, Vt., last Monday. They finished in good condition, with springy step, after a run of sixty miles from Concord, N. H., this morning, 41 minutes ahead of the minimum for checking in.

Half an hour later the army remount service's grade thoroughbreds, Mlle. Denise and Bunkie, which had been in the van for the first three days, came in, also within the time limit, and all four pranced about camp until they could officially cross the finish line.

CLEVER PLAY AT LOCAL THEATER FRIDAY EVENING

"Civilian Clothes" With William Courtney and Fine Cast pleases Local Audience

A house which was far too small to hold the audience that gathered for the presentation of "Civilian Clothes," a play by the La Crosse theater.

A splendid cast headed by William Courtney and with Dorothy Dickinson as the supporting woman, gave an interpretation of this highly interesting romantic story which local critics pronounced a finished product. The settings were handsome and the towns beautiful.

Mr. Courtney as the returned war hero who got a job as butler in his father-in-law's home to humble the wife he secretly married in France, after she had said he "wouldn't do" in civilian clothes, displayed the ability of a real artist. Miss Dickinson, as the wife, is a handsome, talented young woman with charming mannerisms and a splendid voice. Equally clever is Frances Underwood as Mrs. Margaret Smythe, a widow with various ways. The cast throughout was splendid, and the business of the play went off with smoothness and dispatch. It was a fine evening's entertainment.

FOREST PRODUCTS BUREAU HAMPERED BY LACK OF FUNDS

MADISON, Wis.—Lack of sufficient appropriations makes it impossible for the Forest Products Laboratory of Madison, Wisconsin, to keep pace with the increasing demand for its expert services. Last year its expenditures amounted to four hundred thousand dollars, two hundred and fifty of which was appropriated by the United States Government, the remainder coming from outside sources. It is the only unit of the Department of Agriculture which received an increase in its appropriation for the past year. In all probability recognition of its excellent work will take the form of another substantial increase during the next session of the Congress.

SQUIRREL ATTACKS MAN AT ROCHESTER INFLECTING BITES

A squirrel attacked and severely bit M. Holm of Charles City, Iowa, this week at Rochester. The squirrel had been frightening children by threatening attacks and Mr. Holm in trying to frighten it away by using an umbrella. With that the squirrel rushed at him, clambered up his clothes and bit him severely in both hands. When he covered his face with his hands, the squirrel bit him several times in the back of the neck. A police officer brought an officer who shot the squirrel. Its body is to be examined for symptoms of lymphogranuloma.

THE EAGLE AND THE JEWEL

A miser, having hidden his hoard in an Eagle's nest during the winter, the eagle and jewels were found by the miser on their return.

It chanced that the father Eagle, bearing two eaglets below, agreeing to help each other, no matter what might come, decided that these men would be worthy to help. So taking a jewel in his beak, he dropped it at the miser's feet.

"What," cried one, "do eagles lay jewels now? Let me stand on your shoulder that I may climb the tree!" The other agreed expecting his share of the treasure.

But when the climber descended, he ignored his friend, saying that as he had done the climbing he would keep the prize.

On hearing which, the Eagle, falling like a thunderbolt on the bigardly man's neck, killed him and gave the treasure to the other rustic.

Those who climb to riches on other men's shoulders and who ungratefully forget never know when their riches may be taken from them.

FIND A 12-POUND NUGGET

A nugget of almost pure gold, weighing 12 pounds, was recently discovered near the Charters Tower in Queensland, Australia. For years the Towers of Queensland, which up to the seventies was a desolate tract, too poor and seedy for sheep, has boasted a premier position among Australian gold fields. Levels are worked at a depth of nearly half a mile. This particular find is worth $4,000. A 12-pound nugget is not recent; but in most nuggets all is not gold that glitters; a 12-pounder of "almost pure gold" is rare. The world's record nugget came from Ballarat in 1858, weighing 2,217 ounces, worth $7,000.—Merrill Herald.

DISTINCTIVE SLEEVES DECREE OF FASHION MILWAUKEE FOUNDRY DAMAGED BY FLAMES

BY CORA MOORE

New York's Fashion Authority
NEW YORK.—There is much ado about sleeves. They may be long or short, wide or narrow, but they must be distinctive.

Of the very abbreviated models two are shown. The sleeves at the left, finished with the double ruffle, are very full with the gathers evenly distributed around the armhole so that the material pounces a trifle over the velvet ribbon band even at the underarm seam.

The second sleeve belongs to a simple checked serge frock. The tiny sleeves are cut with a little fullness which is distributed across the top and then put into a band of white flannel, like the soft, scalloped, turn-over collar that finishes the neck. The band itself is made double and so seamed that it flares out and away from the arm, which is a new feature.

MILWAUKEE FOUNDRY DAMAGED BY FLAMES

MILWAUKEE, Wis.—A spectacular fire, of undetermined origin, destroyed the foundry of the Crucible Steel Casting company, 612 Clinton street, early Friday night. The loss is estimated by Chief Thomas A. Clancy and Albert C. Lange, first vice president of the company, at $50,000.

The fire was discovered by a passer-by at 6:41 o'clock. On the arrival of Assistant Chief Henry Kruse a second alarm was sounded, bringing four additional engine companies and two truck companies to the scene.

At 7:15 o'clock the roof on the cleaning room collapsed. No one was injured. The fire was under control at 7:45 o'clock.

Hundreds of persons were attracted to the blaze, which could be seen from downtown streets. A squad of patrolmen was sent to the fire from the fourth precinct station to keep the crowds at a safe distance.

Although the origin of the fire could not be determined Friday night, it is believed by residents in the neighborhood that the building was struck by lightning.

MAN WHO WEIGHED THE HUMAN SOUL DEAD IN THE EAST

Haverhill, Mass.—Dr. Duncan MacDougall, 54, a surgeon known particularly for his experiments in "the weighing of the soul," died at his home here Friday. Through delicate weighing devices, he calculated the weight of the human soul at between six and eight ounces. In this research, he said he took into account the actual weight of the body immediately before and immediately after death.

BRET HARTE SLAPPED HIM

The man who knew Bret Harte was discovered in the lobby the other morning.

"I was a devil in the shop where the Overland Monthly was printed," he began, after being identified as James H. Barry, editor of the Star, San Francisco's only democratic paper. "Bret sent over the manuscript of 'The Luck of Roaring Camp,' and they finally decided to print it despite the objection of a sensitive lady proofreader. Somehow the proofs had to be pulled in a hurry, and the only ink available at the moment was blue. I carried the blue proofs over to Harte. He said: 'What the hell is this blue ink for? I can't read it. Haven't you got any black?'"

"I was too scared to make any explanation and I got the usual reprimand administered to printers' devils in those days. Harte reached over and slapped my face. I always hated him after that."—Sun and New York Herald.

RAIN JUST IN TIME TO SAVE SETTLERS FROM DEATH IN FIRE

ASHLAND, Wis.—Rain came just in time to save many settlers from burning to death. The power plant belonging to the L. E. Miers company at Superior Falls, was entirely surrounded by fire and for three days the fire department of Ironwood, together with volunteers, 150 men in all, battled the fires. The women and children at the plant were ordered out and because of the high wind, the fire fighting train from Ironwood was unable to reach the burning region.

The smoke drove deer from the wooded region of the Gogebic range up to the lake. A deer yard was formed by these animals east of Ashland along the lake shore and several hundred deer sought safety there.

All ore trains from the range towns to Ashland were annulled and all passenger trains were derailed over the Soo line.

G. O. P. APPEALS TO RACE PREJUDICE IS CHARGE OF COLBY

Secretary of State Scores Campaign Effort to Arouse Racial Grievances

CHICAGO.—Speaking at a luncheon at the Iroquois club today Secretary of State Colby charged the republican party with "the methodical effort to play upon the susceptibilities of every racial group in America," and characterized it "one of the most sinister features" of the republican campaign. He accused the republicans of transporting to America and injecting into purely domestic issues foreign and racial prejudices of Europe and of taking advantage of these susceptibilities in immigrants before they have had time to learn American and become American.

Mentioning the Germans, Mr. Colby declared any general organized support from the German element in America is an expression of either disappointment or resentment at the course of the United States in the war.

"There is not a journal published in Germany," the speaker charged, "or a newspaper that during the war enjoyed prominence as pro-German that is not supporting Harding and the republican ticket today. There is not a German suspect or a German sympathizer who was the subject of prudent attention by authorities during the war who is not supporting the republican ticket; and there is only one reason they hate the president who pulled the mask aside from Prussian arrogance. They hate the party under whose direction and leadership the victorious war was fought in which America contributed the decisive blows that corrupted and humbled German hostilities to free institutions."

What he said of the German element, Secretary Colby explained, applied to every other racial group in America that thinks more of gratifying its racial antipathies than it does of serving America.

"America is not interested primarily in the rivalries between the Albanians and the Jugos Slavs," the speaker continued. "The pretensions of Bulgaria against the Greeks have no place in this campaign. The lawless occupation of France by an exorbitant army, is not in its essence an American question. The republican party realizes this when it seeks to appoint the irrelevant but politically appealing racial grievances and turn them into use as make-weights in gaining political power on domestic issues which are utterly remote and disconnected from them."

"The democratic party is not seeking the support of any of these racial groups among our population on the basis of their prejudices or susceptibilities as aliens. The democratic party is an American party. It appeals to Americans in American issues. It welcomes the well meaning immigrants of all races and climes, but the hand of fellowship that it holds out to them is the hand of American fellowship and it will extend no other greeting."

"It is a horrible thing to contemplate a future in which Italian nationalism, combining with Bulgarian jealousy of Greece and in turn linking up with the German snarling under deserved defeat, and backed by the Irish distrust of England, should constitute a voting block in our electorate."

CARRY ON NATIONAL DRIVE TO PREVENT USELESS FIRE WASTE

Negligent Property Owners to be Blacklisted by Fire Department Officials

NEW YORK.—Negligent property owners whose carelessness in the past has contributed to the loss of 15,000 lives and the destruction of $250,000,000 annually by fire in the United States are going to be "black listed" by fire department officials in a number of cities this year in accordance with a plan of the national board of fire underwriters. For weeks, in anticipation of the observance of Fire Prevention day throughout the nation, the following warning had been displayed on billboards, street cars and in other public places:

"Keep off the fire department's blacklist!"

"Prior to Fire Prevention day, members of the uniformed force will make inspections of business and residential properties. All premises containing accumulations of rubbish, defective chimneys and flues, improper heating devices or any other conditions constituting a public menace will be carefully noted and recorded."

Observance of Fire Prevention day, which falls on the 49th anniversary of the burning of Chicago, was general throughout the United States, according to an announcement by the national board of fire underwriters here, the governors of many states having issued proclamations in accordance with the request of President Wilson.

The New York city fire department, through its bureau of fire prevention, planned a program which includes the issuance of 300,000 letters to school children and their parents, the display of 10,000 red placards in public places, the circulation of stereoscopic slides in motion picture houses, the imprinting of "riders" on 100,000 restaurant menus and city department letters and the utilization of billboard space.

Special attention was devoted to the school children because of the fact that in the United States there are, on an average, approximately five school fires every day. More than one-third of the school fires for the three years, 1916, 1917 and 1918, aggregating $13,972,393, were due to "strictly preventable" causes.

To educate the teachers and children in fire prevention a mock trial entitled "The Trial of Fire" was staged today in hundreds of school rooms. The dramatic personnel included, beside the judge and court officials, "the arch criminal, Carelessness," and the defendants (11 of the major causes of fire) as follows: Kerosene, Cigarette, Match, Electricity, Rubbish, Gas, Defective Chimney, Gasoline, Lightning, Bonfire and Spontaneous Combustion. Pupils portrayed the various characters.

There were prize essay contests and special observances in schools of many cities. In others the chamber of commerce conducted ceremonies to call attention to the fire danger.

PLANE DAMAGED NEAR LYNXVILLE IN BAD LANDING

One of La Crosse Mail Ships is Being Repaired South of Here by Local Crew

One of the government air-mail planes which will be put in service on the Chicago-La Crosse-Twin city route is marooned on a side hill near Lynxville with a broken wing today awaiting repairs.

Forced to land because of engine trouble, the pilot was unable to find a level field in the country over which he was flying, and landing on a side hill, jammed out of the wings sufficiently to put the plane out of business temporarily. A truck with mechanics left La Crosse this morning for Lynxville to repair the plane.

Planes which will be used in the La Crosse air-mail service are being assembled at Chicago and Minneapolis preparatory to the inauguration of the service.

QUAKE RECURRENCES PUZZLE SCIENTISTS

Frequent Disturbances Regarded as Geological Anarchy

WASHINGTON.—Frequent earthquakes in North and South America and Europe during the last few months have puzzled government scientists. They regard the disturbances as a geological anarchy for they say that the greatest seismic disturbance is known definitely to be in February, March and April. Their opinion coincides with that of Father Ton-dori, director of the Georgetown university seismic observatory.

The government scientists have no particular scientific reason to suggest for the frequency of the recent earth disturbances. They are making no special study of the earthquakes, and their opinion is that geology is too young a science and too little is known of it for anyone to attempt an explanation of the cause of the anomaly.

Geologists recognize that the earth's surface is in a state of continual unrest, and they explain that whenever the accumulated force passes the "breaking point" earthquakes follow. The disturbances which recently have occurred in three continents are regarded by scientists as movements of the earth's crust and yet they say that some of the shocks may have extended to a depth of 200 miles.

Fault lines or weak places in the earth are well known to the geologists, according to G. P. Merrill, curator of the National Museum, who explains that because of this knowledge a general prediction regarding the area of a disturbance can be made by the scientists. But, he adds, "no sane man" would attempt to say exactly where or when, for a fault may extend for several hundred miles.

She Learned Something

Elsie, about to be married, decided at the last moment to test her sweetheart, so, going to her friend Maude, the prettiest girl she knew, she said to her although she knew it was a great risk:

"I'll arrange for Fred to take you out tonight a walk on the beach in the moonlight, supper, and all that sort of thing—and I want you, in order to put his fidelity to the proof, to ask him for a kiss."

Maude laughed, blushed and assented. The plot was carried out, and the next day Elsie visited her friend and said anxiously:

"Well, Maude, did you ask him?"

"No, Elsie, dear."

"No! Why not?"

"I didn't get a chance; he asked me first."

DIPLOMATIC CORPS PROTESTS SEIZURE OF LIQUOR BY U. S.

Action by Government Agents Leads to Complications at Washington

WASHINGTON.—By The Associated Press.—Action by government agents in seizing liquor consigned to the diplomatic corps in Washington has led to some complications. It was learned at the state department, while no formal protests have been lodged with the government, the situation has reached the point where the department felt called upon to issue a public statement.

The hope is expressed in this statement that agents of the government will not interfere with the baggage or other personal possessions of any member of the diplomatic corps or of his family.

Information has reached the state department, it was said, that personal baggage of the diplomats has been examined by the federal agent and liquor removed. The property seized was held for further claim from the owner but department officials said often the liquor disappeared before it could be called for.

Diplomats contend it is a recognized principle of international law that the personal baggage of a diplomat is free from inspection by customs or other agents of a friendly nation.

BURKE AND M'COY MEETING IS EVENT FOR NEXT TUESDAY

Big Democratic Rally Marks Opening of the Campaign in this City

Arrangements are about completed for the first large Democratic Rally of the campaign. Hon. John Burke, treasurer of the United States and former governor of North Dakota, together with Col. Robert McCoy, democratic candidate for governor, will speak at Yeoman Hall Tuesday evening, Oct. 16, at 8 o'clock p. m.

" Honest John" Burke, as he was familiarly known in North Dakota, has had a successful political career. Twice elected Governor as a democrat in a republican state, he attracted attention throughout the nation. Bryan supported him for Vice-President at the Baltimore convention and Wilson later appointed him Treasurer of the United States. His name is on all recent issues of paper currency. It is expected that Burke will set forth the democratic terms of the League of Nations in his talk here. McCoy's talk will be confined to state issues.

Mayor A. A. Bentley will be chairman of a large reception committee composed of both ladies and gentlemen to serve in honor of the distinguished guests.

Gold Beating an Ancient Art

The origin of gold leaf, like the first use of gold itself, is lost in the mists of antiquity. It is found, for example, in connection with the most ancient known mummies having been used for covering teeth, tongues, skulls, etc. Gold leaf was also used on the tombs and monuments of ancient Egypt. The process of making gold leaf has thus been known since the eighth century B. C. In the eleventh century it seems to have attained a high degree of perfection as today. The gold leaf on some ancient Grecian pottery, indeed, is as thin as that now used.

PURPLE FACES HARD BATTLE AT MADISON AGAINST BADGERS

Badgers Expected to Give Northwestern Stiffer Opposition than Gophers

FOUR UNDEFEATED BIG TENS FEATURE TODAY'S SCHEDULE

Ohio State Makes Initial Appearance Against Conference Team

CHICAGO.—Four undefeated western conference football teams will go into action on Saturday. An additional headliner will be the Notre Dame-Nebraska game at Lincoln.

Illinois, the conference champions of 1919, will meet Iowa, doped by many as this year's winner of the Big Ten title. The Devine brothers have been playing their usual good game and Lock has made a fine showing at fullback for the Hawkeyes. Aubrey Devine showed up especially well in the Indiana-Iowa game.

Coach Zuppke with his own Fletcher brothers, will have a hard fight. Illinois has beaten Drake, but the game with Iowa will be the first real test of the season.

Northwestern, which upset the dope last Saturday by defeating Minnesota, will play the Badgers at Madison. Wisconsin has a team which is properly more powerful than Minnesota and the Purple will have a faster battle than last Saturday.

Indiana will journey to Minneapolis. The Hoosiers will give the northwesterners a real run for their money. A good deal depends on Arnold Oss, the star Minnesota back. He was crippled in the Northwestern game, after he had been blanketed by the Purple defense.

Ohio State will make its first appearance of the season with a big team when they meet Purdue at Columbus. The Buckeyes should have little trouble with the Bollersmakers. Chicago university, after playing a rugged game, beat Purdue 20 to 0. Notre Dame was doped to defeat Nebraska. Chicago will meet Wabash on Stage field and Michigan will play the Aggies at Ann Arbor.

CALLING OF DUCKS

BY PETER F. CARNY

(Editor National Sports Syndicate.) Whether you shoot ducks over decoys on the pass, jumping or wading the call is very essential. Yet of the great number of men who shoot few are able to call well or with judgment. It is not necessary to cultivate many different calls. Two or three are enough.

For inland water fowl, mallard, widgeon, teal, grayduck, spoonbill, wood-duck, black-duck and all non-diving ducks, the mallard and teal call is sufficient. In fact, the mallard call alone is usually enough for all non-diving ducks.

For diving or deep-water ducks, the blue-bill call will answer, although if one has also at command the purring call of the red head, it will greatly help in the day's sport. In shooting over ordinary waters where sport is to be had at red heads, blue-bills, broad-bills, whistlers, butter-bills and the others of their class, most of the ducks will respond readily to the blue-bill or the broad-bill call. Blue-bills are great callers and on calm days can be heard hailing every passing flock.

Sometimes the blue-bill calls the ker-r-r once, twice or three times, and occasionally even four times. When they are feeding they often sound a contented kind of chuckle which is similar to that of the madden when undisturbed.

Sound travels a long way in a still marsh. When the call is loud the mallard, black-duck and widgeon detect easily the friend in call, therefore, moderate your voice in a marsh. Oftentimes these wary birds, after coming into a marsh in response to your call, will settle among your decoys or they may alight outside of your range and study the decoys to satisfy themselves of their being all right. If not disturbed they will then slowly move towards the decoys feeding and chuckling as they swim.

Do Not Call Too Loud or Too Often. Call to attract the bird's attention to decoys, then moderate your call. In a marsh remember the birds can detect the imitation more easily in a loud than in a muffled call.

For deep-water birds call louder for the calling, or else give a low chuckle that they can hear best.

If birds start to circle away, a few low calls will often bring them back. If in open water, the birds often will go entirely around you to discover what the suspicious bunch of decoys contains, and at such a time lie low and do not try to keep them in sight all the while. Your moving will scare them quicker than anything else. Lie low, and stay low. If the birds come in, do not jump up. Rest just high enough to clear your blind when you shoot. Be assured the ducks' eyes are on the short side, fog there is where they watch first for danger, and any movement sends them scattering.

No Use to Baby

One of the gifts to the new baby was a toy hairbrush. When Bobby the baby's brother, saw it, he thought it was a toothbrush. "Go," said Bobby, "he can't use this, cause he was born with an empty mouth."

Electrolyzed Sea Water

Electrolyzed sea water possesses antiseptic properties, and an apparatus has been perfected which, at small cost, electrolyzes sea water on ship-board, so that it can be used as a disinfectant.

FISHING THE WORM

The original bait that has tickled the palate of all kinds of fish since the first open season in the Garden of Eden and caused more of him to grace the trying pan than any other lure, of the thousands in use, is the common old worm. Called by some the anglerworm by others the fishworm, and knighted as the greatest bait ever by the happy, bare-legged, knee-pants angler of the Order of the Long Cane Pole.

This little old worm bait has never received as much credit as it should, probably because its value as a bait has been in a way overlooked in the mad rush for the multicolored and wonderfully shaped artificials that have made bait casting the most popular end of the sport. Then, again, the fact that the fly-fishermen generally tilt the nose skyward when the worm is as much as mentioned, has sort of given it a black eye with the beginner, who, above all things, hates to have the experienced angler think for a minute that he is a tyro at the game.

As a still-fishing bait for all kinds of fish the worm stands at the head of the class and he can wiggle into the affections of the finny tribe when many other baits don't even get a glance. Whether it is the fascinating wiggle of the head and tail of the worm, which should be hooked through the body a couple of times with the ends free, or the delicious flavor of this choice bit of fish food that makes it so popular, is a question that can only be settled by the fish, but is a sure enough fact that they take to worms like a duck to water.

One big point in favor of the worm is that it can be found in good numbers almost anywhere. A few turns of earth with a spade gives you enough bait for an afternoon's fishing. Four species of worms are probably the most useful in fishing, the black-headed worm without the band or color-like ring which is rather dark in color and the toughest and best looking of the lot, found in garden soil. The ringed worm with a ring around the body a little above the middle, and a flatter looking worm which is found under old manure heaps and such places. This worm is softer and does not make as good bait as the black-headed worm. The marsh worm, which has a whitish ring, and is a pale blue in color and is found under stones and among decayed leaves and under rotting logs. The red-headed worm is found in rich earth near manure heaps and is quite thick in proportion to its length. It is dark red, and owing to the fact that it loses its color after being in the water a short time, is not as good for bait as the others.

EAU CLAIRE NORMAL CONFERENCE GAMES ARE DECLARED VOID

Ruling Says Eau Claire Conference Victories Shall be Considered Exhibition Games

SUPERIOR, Wis.—The interconference games of the Eau Claire Normal school have been declared void as far as the state championship is concerned, according to the ruling made by the presidents of the Wisconsin State Normal schools.

The decision declares that the games in which Eau Claire defeated Stevens Point Normal school 3 to 0 and the Superior Normal school 10 to 0 shall be considered as exhibition games. This ruling is made following the protest of Stevens Point and Superior Normals on the eligibility of Gill and Brumm, former University of Wisconsin freshmen stars whom Coach Richards depended on for material this year. The Superior Normal school will play its first interconference game here on Saturday, when they meet the River Falls Normal school.

A Graceful Winner

Will Irwin, in an address in Greenwich Village, on birth control, told a story of a chap named Higgins, who home one night to learn that his wife had given birth to triplets—three healthy, bouncing boys.

Higgins, overjoyed, went to the boss's office next morning and recounted the tale and wonderful thing which had befallen him. The boss congratulated him heartily, and the next day Higgins was sent for.

He hurried to the office again, to find the entire firm assembled there. A handsome silver cup stood on the mantel, and this trophy, in an eloquent speech, the boss presented to him in recognition of the triple blessing which he had bestowed upon his country.

Higgins took the cup in his hand, bowed respectfully, and said: "Excuse me, sir, but is this cup mine now, or do I have to win three years in succession?"—Boston Globe.

ALL BIG CONFERENCE ELEVEN'S STEP INTO MID-SEASON STRIDE

Eight Big Ten Teams Clash With Each Other Today; Two With Smaller Elevens

CHICAGO, Ill.—Football stepped into real mid-season stride in the mid-west Saturday with every western conference eleven and team from all other more important colleges scheduled to play.

Eight of the Big Ten teams clashed with each other, while two met smaller elevens. Standing above all other contests, were those between Iowa and Illinois at Urbana and Northwestern and Wisconsin at Madison. In other games Indiana played the Michigan Aggies and Chicago had an easy foe in Wabash.

The fracas at Urbana was the first conference game, for Illinois, last year's title winner, but the second for Iowa, which already owned a victory over Indiana. Iowa also had the advantage of another game and was expected to be in midseason form.

Northwestern, after the biggest football upset in the middle west in years—its 17 to 0 victory over Minnesota last week—was watched particularly today to see if last Saturday's showing was merely a flash or an indication of championship strength. It is Wisconsin's first championship tilt of the season. The Indiana-Minnesota and the Purdue-Ohio State contests drew little more than cursory interest as Purdue and Indiana both already had been defeated by other conference elevens. Victory for either, however, was expected to virtually eliminate their opponent from the race.

The most important game in the middle west outside the conference was that between Nebraska and Notre Dame. It was their fifth clash, each team being victorious twice, and also was expected to show whether Coach Frank Schultz will be able to present any real strength when he takes the Nebraska eleven east later in the season.

SPORT SUMMARY

BINGHAMTON, N. Y.—"Babe" Ruth sustained a fracture of a small bone in his left wrist in a game between his "All-Stars" and the Endicott Johnson team of this city.

NEW YORK.—Jack Shurkey, New York bantamweight, was awarded the judges' decision over Charley Ledoux, bantamweight champion of France, in a fifteen round bout.

YORK, Neb.—Theodore Nordland, high school football player, died as a result of injuries sustained in a game Saturday.

TENTH LOCAL CUEIST DEFEATED BY STUART AT BODEGA CARNIVAL

Handicap Pocket Billiard Tournament Opens Monday for Two Weeks Session

The final contest of the pocket billiard carnival which has been held at the Bodega for the past two weeks was played last night when F. A. Stuart, national organizer for the American Billiard association, defeated Richard Wiggert, 100 to 33. The game last night marked the defeat of the tenth local player.

Engler, local star, holds the record of scoring the highest against the expert cueist, having 64, while Farrand is second with 53, and Brown third with 49.

A grand handicap pocket billiard tournament will be staged at the club beginning Monday and will continue for two weeks. Many players have entered this event, including Kramer, Wiggert, Brown, Farrand, Huebner, Lombard, Winters and Grant. Two more entries will be accepted.

The following are the standings in the Rotation Hazard tournament: Parkhurst, 95; Farrand, 59; Parkhurst and White tied for third with 51.

DUNN TAKES SPEAKER INTO PARTNERSHIP CONTRACTING FIRM

CLEVELAND, O.—Tris Speaker, manager of the Cleveland Americans, world's champion baseball team, was today presented with a large block of stock in the Dunn and McCarthy company, Chicago railroad contractors, by James C. Dunn, president of the Cleveland club and president of the contracting company as a reward for Speaker's efforts in giving Cleveland a champion team.

Speaker plans ultimately to devote his time to the contracting business when through playing baseball.

"I figure that you will make as good a contractor as you made a baseball manager," Dunn said in making his gift to Speaker, "and I want you associated with me in our company."

His Excuse

Jack was the most mischievous little boy in the neighborhood. His mother had the habit of always trying to excuse his pranks. One day he got into trouble about tampering with a water faucet in the yard of a woman next door. "Why did you do it?" she asked. "Oh, I'm too young to know any better," the little boy assured her.

These People Call Home Industries "Ours"

Community Interest in Home Industry is what builds up prosperous communities

The basic industry in any community is that which makes the wheels of all the other industries go round and which maintains the domestic circle unbroken by hard living.

Power, light and domestic fuel must be furnished every community regularly, in quantity and at reasonable price or the community will cease to be.

An investment based upon providing these three essentials of civilized life is truly a community investment. It is bound to be useful, permanent and profitable.

Wisconsin-Minnesota Light and Power company offers such an investment which will

Pay Eight Per Cent. A Year

The people, who take up this investment will benefit their own communities, place their money safely, make their home places green, invite other industries and people and get eight per cent. on their money in the bargain.

Surely this is community boosting with a profit attached to it.

Ask Wisconsin-Minnesota Light and Power Company how you can get a piece of your community's best industry and earn eight per cent. on what you put into it.

The information can be had for the asking---It is good information too.

Chased From Out of Yard

A traveler bought a ticket and then going out on the platform, said: "How soon does the train start?" "Why, there she goes now," said a porter. "You've just missed her." The traveler kept on the line and set out in pursuit of the train with all his might. But in two or three minutes he came trudging back. A laughing crowd had gathered and the porter said, "Well did you catch her?" "No," said the traveler, "but by jingo, I made her puff."—Janesville Gazette.

Platinum

Platinum was discovered by white men in gold mining, in Columbia, South America, in 1735, and it was thrown away at first as worthless. It was first taken to Europe in 1743 and was found valuable commercially, especially in the manufacture of chemical utensils. It is only in the last half century that it has been used to any extent for jewelry purposes.

In many European salt mines the men working there never come to the surface.
